

Résumé du projet en anglais

I would like to introduce myself, my name is Zoheir MAATALLA, I am a second year student at the Platform, based in Marseille, in the second year, we have learned to develop apps, but we learned different kinds of frameworks and technologies, but we mostly focused on how to learn and build apps for Android and IOS.

As we know there are various mobile applications that may perform the same function as Junior. As developers it always good to create something that answers the need of the client and the world at large. Junior App came just as what we thought as the little missing piece in job application. It's always hard for a junior developer to find their first job (stage, Alternance, CDD, CDI) in order to gain and improve the skills in web and application development. We have this idea of creation and application that serve the need of junior developer in helping us find out first experience in a company or a project. The aim is to provide job with all the junior developers within 0 to 3 years of professional experience.

The aim of Junior is to help reduce the gap and doubt between junior developer that just want to find their first experience to put their skill to test and improve as better developer and Company Recruiters, and Start-ups. Junior is bring you a meeting place for both the companies and the junior developers to have a direct contact. As the junior developer may have access to job opportunity that link to their level of skill and contact the company direct. Company that have posted a job offer can also view a junior developer profile and can contact him/her direct from the application.
